

The South Anchorage church of Christ, a conservative non-instrumental church, located in Anchorage, Alaska, is accepting applications for a full-time preacher/evangelist.

The applicant should have experience within the church of Christ, working with smaller and older congregations of less than 50 people without elders. We seek a married man whose wife and family will take an active role in activities of the congregation. He should be an energetic self-starter with a motivation to build unity and growth within the church, who has a demonstrated ability to teach and lead others.

A single family, 4-bedroom home is provided, which is close to the church building. A passenger van is provided for work related activities. Compensation is commensurate with experience and is negotiable.

We are seeking an adventure minded individual willing to make a long-term commitment to a congregation trying to grow and reach out to the surrounding community.

Please email your contact information to sacoc@gci.net, together with your resume including a list of present and prior congregations you've worked with, and their web site addresses, contact information for at least 5 personal and professional references and any faith statements or links to any of your preaching videos for our consideration.

Thank you.
